Kiril Angelov

ABOUT ME

I'm an adaptable and hardworking person, with experience working in teams to achieve common goals with excellence on time.

I believe that communication and interpersonal skills are key in any field. By constantly improving and refining those skills, I am better equipped to build strong relationships, collaborate with others, and achieve my goals.

In my free time, I enjoy reading, engaging in physical activities (especially contact sports), listening to music, and spending time with my family and close friends.

RELEVANT EXPERIENCE

Data Analyst (DataBee, Bulgaria)

My line of work consist of extensive research for specific data points from reports and documents. In addition to data analysis, entry and extraction, I am also responsible for ensuring quality and accuracy.

In addition to my people skills, I have also served as a team leader within my company, effectively coordinating communication among various parties.

Teamwork was mandatory, since most of the projects required it. Since I joined the company more than a two years ago, when there were around 10-20 employees, including myself, it has grown considerably since then.

In addition to my professional experience, I have pursued various activities on the side. I have acquired fairly considerable expertise in social media management, ads, webstore development, automation, customer support, etc.
